WILMINGTON, N. C., SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 8, 1878

The Secretary of State, Mr. Evaris, is down on the bills for a speech very This gentleman is one of America's ablest orators, as well as a statesman of the highest ability, and whatever he says will be examined in the most careful and critical manner. We are glad to learn that Mr. Everts is going to make a political speech. Mr. Sherman made one a few days ago. This action on the part of our Cabinet Ministers, will learn some of our U.S. office holders in North Carolina, that upon the performance of their duties. they can open their mouths in the interest of the Republican party, for will now find their voices again.

The legislature of Virginia having passed an act restoring that remnant of barbarity known as the whipping post, it happened that in one of the counties a white young woman, having been tried and convicted in due form according to this recently enacted statute, was publicly whipped on the bare back. At this the Washington Post is excessively indignant, not at the Virginia legislature which made this piece of barbarity possible, but at the magistrate, who it appears was a colored man and the sheriff who had the bad fortune to have been born in the state of Maine. The Post administers to the magistrate and sheriff a sound drubbing. It is not possible to evade the conclusion that the chief responsibility for this repulsive performance rests upon the legislature of Virginia which enacted the law, and not upon the officers who executed

Congressman Acklen of Louisiana of doubtful fame, at a meeting of the committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce, held to consider the best means to relieve the yellow fever distresses in the south, had the bad taste to interpolate into the proceedings the everlasting and omnipresent "lost cause." He trotted out in due form " those scars caused by the late war between the states," and "that conquered hanner, which we of the south cherished and fought for so long," and with that same sort of gush common in the south actually thanked the Chamber of Commerce for doing this much towards pacifying that oppressed and disconsolate part of the world. We have not heard whether these gentlemen there one growth when assembled were pleased when asked wh but we strongly suspect that they thought themselves inspired by far broader and more humane motives,

OUR PRESIDENTS.

The contemplation of the disappoint ments of Presidential candidates since the adoption of our Constitution, cannot fail to fill the mind with a feeling of sadness. Looking back over this long stretch of coast strewn so thickly with splendid wrecks, one almost arrives at the conclusion that the highest statesmanship in this country is an absolute barrier to the highest political honors. Of the nineteen Presidents of the United States, no one since Martin Van Buren, was at the time he was called to that august seat, specially distinguished as a statesman.

To fill his place General Harrison was called from the comparative obscurity of his farm. Then came Tyler, and then Polk by no means the equal of several of his competitors in reputation. Then came General Taylor summoned from the camp where he had spent his life, and was followed by Fillmore not by any means, the first man in New York. Then followed Franklin Pierce who was jeered at as an unknown person. Mr. Buchanan was a person of large experience in affairs, but his career showed him to be not a statesman.

Then came Mr. Lincoln, selected in stead of Mr. Seward, Mr. Chase and others, and even in spite of a very strong following. After Andrew Johnson come General Grant from the camp without any experience in an officia position of that kind, while several very inent statesmen were standing in the back-ground, and lastly Mr. Hayes while Mr. Sherman, Mr. Conkling, Mr. Blaine, General Logan and others stood in the rear ground. Look at the rejected candidates of aspirants scattered all the way from Washington down to our time-DeWitt Clinton, Silas Wright, Lewis Cass, Calun, Webster, Clay, Marcy, Seward aner and Chase. To these may be ed the names of Alexander Hamil-Aaron Burr, John Bell of Tennes ward Everett, John A. Dix an dricks and Bayard, and pick old Sammy Tilden. We caution all our statesmen not to pecome too great lest their prospects for advancement may be damaged. Let them become so far non-committalists that nobody can object to anything which they may have said or done. If mediocrity is to be the requisite for the highest offices in the nation let our best statesmen affect that style, so that we can have a clas of candidates to select from whose opinions nobody knows, and who are therefore available candidates. Let Conkling tone down that lofty speech, let Blaine repress that fiery elcquence which makes him " the Rupert of debate," and let Sherman extract all significance from his terse rhetoric. Then we shall have an abundance of candidates against whom nothing can

We hope they publicans of New York assembled at Saratogs on the 20th ult. for consultation, and to decide upon what arrangements were best to enable the Republicans to present a united front at the November election. Every county in the state was represented. After full discussions the body passed resolutions indicating their purpose. The feature of the occasion was the letter of Senator Conkling addressed to the Hon. A. B. Corneil. It breathes the spirit of not only good Republicanism but of patriotism. The great leaders of the great party are falling into line. The following is Mr. Conklings letter:

UTICA. Aug. 28, 1878. MY DEAR SIR: I have your note saying a number of Republicans will meet at Saratoga to-morrow to take counsel together. This seems to me vise and timely. The Government of the country is rapidly passing into the hands of those who so lately sought to destroy it, not stopping until they had filled the land with woe and burdened it with the debt and taxes which now rest so heavily upon us. This is not wise for any section. Raids on the Treasury, vast in amount, and without right or honesty, are mustering for the time when a "solid South," dominating the Democratic Party, as it will and must, shall again rule the two houses of Congress. Wild schemes of repu-diation, financial chaos, and revolution find encouragement on every hand, and in most of the States the Democratic Party is being drawn into a whirlpool of fallacious, short sighted theories. Equality before the law and political rights and liberty, which the recent amendments to the Constitution were ordained to establish, are becoming only a mockery throughout the South, and free elections are not permitted in several States. New York, as the greatest commercial State and by far the largest tax-payer in the Union, has a vast stake in all these things, and the one great reliauce in regard to the Party. and minor issues, and joining heart and hand in one high, just purpose to pre-serve the national security and honesty, and to protect human rights. I should be glad to meet you all as you propose, but it seems better that I remain away.

I see it charged that a "claim" to be eturned to the Senate has been set up by me. You know, but all others may not not know, how far this is from the I know and feel that if any one has a "claim on the Republican Party I am not the man. The "claim" is altogether the other way. I have been honored too much and too often not to feel a deep and abiding sense of obligation to the party and to its members, and a sincere regret that I have been no bet-ter abla to deserve and repay their con-fidence. The Director of the Mint has written lars were coined, and how they got has answered certain questions, throwdepreciation of the coin on the bullionowners, who took advantage of circum stances to turn the trade dollars from the legitimate channel, and throw them into circulation in this country. Numerous explanations have been made as to the part speculators played in introducing the coin, and to the part they are expected to play in withdrawing it. All these letters, answers, and explanations have failed to quiet the excitement among the people, or to lessen the indignation of those who hold the coins.

There is cause for indignation on the part of the people, but little cause for any panicky feeling as to the trade dollar. The history of the coin is, to say the least, peculiar. The act of 1873, authorizing the comage, was expncit on the point that the trade dollar was not intended for circulation in this country, but it made the new coin a e coinage was largely in the hands of the bullion-owners, and when there was a fall in the price of silver it was editorials upon "Summer Diseases," to their interest to deposit bullion worth "Sunstroke," etc., are especially valua-80 or 85 cents, and receive for it trade ble at this of the year. If people gen-There was a strong temptation to speculate by forcing the coins into circulation into this country, and in 1876 Congress abolished the legal tender quality coinage, Foreseeing the demand for them, the silver-owners managed to have coined nearly twice as many trade dollars in 1876 as in 1874, and in 1877 nearly three times as many. It is said that banks, large manufacturing establishments, railroad companies, etc., purchased trade dollars at a discount, and paying them out to the people at face value, made a handsome profit. In the midst of the silver excitement, people took them eagerly, and for several months they have been in free circulation, hoarded only by those who were laying by a few dollars for a wet day. The withdrawing of the legal tender quality in 1876 did not interfere with this free circulation, and a few weeks since the coinage was entirely suspend-

As the speculators took advantage of the government's action in the first in-stance, they now take advantage of the action discontinuing the coinage. They put the coins out at a profit to them-selves, and now they seek to withdraw them at another profit. The government officials authoritatively announce that the silver in a trade dollar is worth that the silver in a trade dollar is worth only ninety cents, and the speculators fix this as the market price, and proceed to buy them up. They buy them, not as bullion, but as trade dollars, knowing that in the Oriental trade they can be used at face value. A few months ago, having forced the coinage beyond the demand, for the Eastern trade, they could afford to sell the trade dollars, coined for them at little cost at a discounder that the cost at a could afford to sell the trade dollars, coined for them at little cost, at a discount. Now that there is sure to be a demand for them from China, they hope to buy them back at a discount, fixing their own price on them. It will be seen that the people are expected to play into the hands of the speculators in both ways. But there are two parties to the trade, as there were at first. As the trade dollars were not legal tenders when they same into circulation in the States east of the Rocky Mountains, the people could have refused them. But they did not. As the coin is just as valuable now as then, they may sell them back at builion value, or not, as they choose.

the people. But the people are not at the mercy of the speculators. The trade dollar is an authorized coin, and is in demand. If the law of superior of the people are not at the mercy of the speculators. is in demand. If the law of supply and demand does not result, in go time, in withdrawing the trade dollar from circulation without loss to the people. Congress will under action in the premises. There are two ways in which the trade dollar may be withdrawn. The bullion value is more than that of the The trade dollars might be bought up by the government in exchange for the legal tender dollar without loss, and such use made of them as seemed and such use made of them as seemed desirable. Congress may declare them legal tender, and thus spoil the schemes of the speculators, and save the people from loss. That Congress will take prompt action in the matter is almost certain. Therefore, the holders of the trade dollars are safe in holding them for their full value. If the records for their full value. If the people for their full value, if the people present effort to swindle them by depre-ciating the coin will be short-lived .-Inter Ocean.

"Henry Greeville's new and mo dramatic and most powerful novel, and the one that has established he fame in Europe, is 'Saveli's Expiation,' which is a faithful portrayal of Russian despotism in the time of serfdom, and although the character on which the plot rests is strongly drawn, it is not overdrawn, but is true to the time and situation. Powerful as it is, it is as free from exaggeration as if it were described from memory of an actual event, while a pathetic, tender love story is presented for relief. 'Saveli's Expiation' shows more power and wonderful concentration than any the author has written; the descriptions in it are so vivid, and the characters and surroundings presented with such clearletter explaining why the trade dol- ness and strength, that one is carried to the very scene and feels the atmosinto circulation, Secretary Sherman phere. Henry Greeville is not what is called an emotional writer; yet there ing the responsibility for the present is an underlying tone of pathos in this novel which escapes at times in powerful passages, the interest being well sustained throughout, while the story is refined and exceedingly enjoyable. The charm of this novel consists in its freshness, the characters being delines ated with bold vet delicate touches, and perfect truthfulness made subservient to art, so that one finds in it an individuality which makes life pictures." 'Saveli's Expiation' is published in a large volume, price 50 cents, and is for sale by all booksellers, or sent to any one, on their remitting 60 cents to the publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers. Relationship to the General.

[From the New York Tribune.] WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 .- The traditional ingratitude of republics could hardly be more pointedly illustrated than it is by the misfortunes which have tallen upon some of the living representatives of the family of George Washington. The public is aware of the fact that stress of circumstances last Winter compelled one of the branches of this family living in Virginia to part with relies of the great man which had descended to them as heirlooms, and in the preservation of which the whole Nation felt an interest; and it is also well known that the same Congress which authorized the expenditure of a quarter of a million of the Nation's treasure to place in everlasting commemoration the name of Washington, also appropriated $12,000 to purchase these relies, and thus relieve the neces sities of an unlucky inheritor of an honored name. Mrs. Fanny Washing ton Finch, the great grandalees of G to. Washington, and supposed to be the nearest living kin to the great man; has for several months been keeping a boarding house in the city which bears her family name. Even in this humble calling the lady seems to have found small favor with the fickle goddess, for within a fortnight her furniture has been placed under attachment, and is now held by her landlord as security for arrears of rent. George Washington had an elder brother named Augustine, and a younger brother named John Augustine. A son of Augustine Washington also had a daughter named Elizabeth, who married General Alexander Spottswood, a descendant of one of Virginia's Governors in Colonial times, and and a daughter born to them was the mother of Mrs. Finch. Thus the subject of this sketch traces her ancestry through both her parents back to the family of the first President of the United States. The father of Mrs. Finch died in 1830, and his remains are in the family yault at Mount Vernon, the casket containing them being one of the eight which lie beside those of George and Martha Washington Mrs. Finch, who was born at Mount Vernon, passed her childhood at the family mansion, but on the death of her father she became an inmate of the family of her uncle, Colonel Geo. C. Washington, then a member of Congress from Maryland, resident in Georgetown. She was one of a family of thirteen children, of is the only survivor. She was married at the residence of Colonel Washington to the Rev. Daniel Motzer, with whom several years of her life were passed very happily. On the death of Mr. Motzer his widow made her home in Georgetown, but her means becoming exhausted after several years of widowhood, she was compelled to except a position as a clerk in the Freasury Department. Eighteen months latter the war broke out, and although two of her brothers joined the Union Army and subsequently lost their-lives in consequence of wounds received in battle, Mrs. Motzer was suspected of disloyalty, and with fourteen other ladies of Virginia parentage in the same division was removed by Secretary Boutwell, In 1870 Mrs. Motzer was married to Mr. Myron Finch, then, and until a year since, holding a position in the naval branch of the New York Custom House, from which he was removed by Mr. Cornell. Mr, Finch, although a gentleman of education and high cultivation, is past the prime of life and finds it impossible in these hard times to get employment. Mrs. Finch is now more than fifty years of age, but re-markably well preserved; her dark hair shows scarcely a trace of silvering, while her pleasing form and face give her the appearance of a lady of forty. She is rather retiring in manner, but a good conversationalist when in company with those with whom she is on terms of familiarity. Mrs. Finch in-herited many valuable relics of George Washington, all of which were on exhibition at the Centenvial. Among the most valued of them are a pieced belowill made by her grandmother bedquilt, made by her grandmother out of material from the wardrobe of Martha Washington, the silver christening bowl long in use in Washington's ening bowl long in use in Washington's family, and a snuff box made of olive wood from Mount Olivet, brought by Lord Fairfax from the Holy Land, and presented by him to Gen. Washington. Mrs. Finch's circumstances have recently been made known to the President, and it is expected he will find the civil service rules sufficiently elastic to permit the reinstalment, either of her husband or herself, into the positions from which they were removed.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color. A dressing able, healthy, and effectual for preserv ing the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and which is at

baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling of from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely

? cents per quart on yesterday. It is a principle in hygienics that a torpid liver is a cause of fatal derange ments of the physical organism, 'The blood, the bone, the muscles, the nerves all sympathize with this more prominent organ. Failure to obey its functions in the one is rebellion in every remote tissue. As a consequence, disease follows the slightest apathy or refusal of the liver to perform its pant. Abnormal condition here for any length of time is death. To induce a normal state, no medicine is more positively adapted than Dr. Sanford's Liver Invi-gorator. This is not advertisement, but morning service at 5 p m; Daily morning service at 7 a m; Sunday adapted than Dr. Sanford's Liver Invifact. We have used the Doctor's valuable medicine in our family for twenty years. We know him to be a physician Taylor pastor. Sunday school at 9½ a able medicine in our family for twenty of over thirty years' continuous practice, and that he has used the nedicine in that practice. If the thousands of Thursday at 8 p m; Church prayer meeting ou Thursday at 8 p m; Brooklyn Mission tice, and that he has used the medicine poor, miserable, sallow looking, dyspep. tic victims we meet every day would use IDr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator, Church, New York.

Science has accomplished no more wonderful or gratifying result than the perfection of an antidote to the chilling signs of approaching age, something to obliterate the tell-tale tracks of time, and preserve the natural adornments of youth to ripe old age. Hall's Hair Renewer does all this, and its praise resounds in cottage and palace. The dwellers among the snows of Norway and the peasants of sunny France and Spain, find use for it, and find means to get it, and it does not disappoint them. The whitening locks again resume their yuthful colo, the thin, dry, and faded hair becomes bright and glossy. The whole appearance is changed as if by magic, and the man or woman, who, before was called aged, now appears as one in the prime of life. Such wonderous changes cannot pass unnoticed, and they have produced the unprecedented demand that now exists for the first and only article ever compounded that can produce them in a pleasing and satisfactory manuer .- New Era, Woodstock. Liver is King, The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. AYER'S PILLS have been known for Ayen's Pills have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct discussed action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every-body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1878, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVEL-KTTPS will be given, by Mrs. Ans 8. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Mrs. F. H. Burnett, and others.

Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are anequalled for beants. They will be superbly colored. Also, household and other receipis; in short, everything interesting to ladies.

N. B.—As the publisher now pre-pays the postage to all mail subscribers. Peterson' is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

ILLUSTRATED.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.—The Bazzi is the organ of the fashionable world and the expounder of that world's law and is the authority in all matters of manners, etiquette, costume, and social habits.—Boston Traceller.

The Bazar commends itself to every member of the household—to the chief dren by droll and pretty picture. member of the household—to the chit-dren by droll and pretty pictures, to, the young ladies by its fashion plates in endless variety, to the provident matron by its paterns for the children's clotes, to paterfamilias by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and luxurious dressing gowns. But the reading matter of the Bazar is uniformly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the fire-side enjoyment it affords, and has become an established authority with the ladies of America.—New York Evening
